GREENWOOD CITY

— Mrs. Cellie Morgan, Correspondent —
Have you read Eleanor G. Vance's "June Inventory?" I have many times to I am sharing it today.

I take an inventory now and then to see what things I own. Now once again

I find that I am wealthy. There's the sky,
Bright blue with snowy lambskins racing by,
Bumping their heads in foolish, childlike ways.

There's sunshine, and the drowsy summer haze
That gives excuse for laziness.
There's rain

That breaks the heat as suddenly as pain
Is dulled by gentle hands. Then there are nights
Of quivering softness, pierced by little lights

From fireflies and stars. And there are trees
That seem to laugh with ever little breeze
That ruffles them. And there are fields of wheat.

And grass grows even by a city street.
No matter what my fortunes, these will be Possessions I may keep eternally.

A few days ago I went to the sea where the surf is flying high by the endless battle of the waves.

Our boat was launched in the Saco River where for a time we fished for stripers. Then we moved on past Fort Ellis out into the bay among the islands.

June's day was golden with its lemon yellow sun and sparkling waters. Occasionally there was a small explosion of clouds somewhere in the endless blue sky.

A breeze was forever wafting waves where sandpipers strutted on skinny legs, tall, as if walking on stilts.

Where we anchored for lunch, the ten gulls were nesting in the distance; tiny bundles of down not yet ready for flight.

As we spent the afternoon we had much fun for the fishing was good. My sister and I did most of that while her husband guided the boat.

and their grandson, ten years old, netted the fish.

Far beyond us lobster boats painted on their way while gulls screamed above them.

Around the points of some islands the Atlantic battered the cliffs and the breakers clawed into the angling rock shapes. The walls of granite turned the inrolling waves into upward shooting spray. It burst skyward in columns or thin sheets, dazzling white. I always enjoy watching the surf as it swirls, pounds, and breaks in rumbling thunder.

Ducks came hurtling out of the water or drifted along the surface liking their tossing sea.

On one island stood a lonely lighthouse above an exposed and ragged headland; the dark Atlantic waters ever pounding the reefs and ledges below. Every moment of delighted looking had a fitting accompaniment of ocean sounds.

Only with an experienced pilot, which we had, do I enjoy the ocean, while in a boat and only when it isn't rough. I'm not a true "seaman" as are those born and brought up with it.

Late afternoon we again fished the Saco for awhile then left for home having spent a perfect day listening to the song of the sea, buoyant and free.

The sun slipped beyond the horizon and our road wound back to the hills of home.

Night came and was beautiful; the other half of day's circle. Thin clouds floated in the splendor of

SOUTH WOODSTOCK

— Mrs. Olive Davis, Corres. —

The driving course sponsored by Franklin Grange in conjunction with West Paris Grange and Bear River was completed, Wednesday, June 13. E. C. Bartlett was the instructor. It was a very worthwhile course and we feel that calling our attention to faulty driving habits, which were like to admit, and instructing us in the correct procedure to combat these errors is a big boon in preventing so many accidents. There were 22 Grangers and friends taking the course.

Mr. Bartlett is a fine instructor, making us all feel at ease and demonstrating driving points with showing of appropriate films, charts, blackboard and magnetic board in a very able manner. We certainly thank him for all his efforts. Mr. Bartlett is a deputy sheriff in Oxford County.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Davis were in Lewiston and Auburn Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bryant, stopping. They called on Mrs. Robert Chase in Auburn in the afternoon. Joe Young spent Tuesday with Ellis Davis at Kory Hook on North Pond.

Ellis Davis joined with the H. A. class of 21 at Lake Mills, Jordan's Restaurant Tuesday for their annual class meeting and dinner. Those attending were the hostess, Elizabeth Young, Sophia Davis, Lida Trott, Helen Chase, Julia Moore, Katherine Rolfe, our English teacher, Elizabeth Bennett, Olive Davis and Gladys Knight.

After having our lunch we went to Mrs. Young's camp in Gladys' boat on Lake Umbagog for a class picnic.

We were sorry to find four of the class were unable to attend. Elizabeth Matter, being ill, was not there. Martha Ryan, Macbethusetta, and Mary Minch, Michigan, were not present. Hope Chapman (nee) had other engagements.

A message from one of the H. A. class of 21 who is ill with emphysema. "If you haven't stopped smoking stop now," she says. "This is awful" and she wishes she had never taken up the habit.

I wrote this note as a suggestion.

Several of the South Woodstock young folks were graduated from Telstar Thursday evening: Paul and Pamela Benson, Perry Ryerson, Sheldon Morgan, Terri Campbell, Ricky Wing. Pamela Benson gave an honor essay as she was in the top ten in the graduating class.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Magliora were at their home here this week and they have put in a picture window in the front part of the house.

The Willing Workers will hold their monthly meeting at the Union Church on Thursday evening at 7:30. June 23. We hope all will try to come that con.

It has been reported that in some parts of our town nine cats were dumped out beside the road to get them out of the way. Also a couple of dogs were dumped in another area. "Now don't you think that is rather a cruel thing to do?" They need food as much as you do. How would you like to be dumped out in the woods to fend for yourself? If you don't want these animals, take them to Norway animal pound or take care of them carefully. It's better than starving to death and dying by inches as the saying goes. Think twice and don't be so unkind to your pets.
